Pinnacle Series is Eagle Point's full-featured AEC and manufacturing learning management system and features expert-developed software training for dozens of programs in the design space. Organizations can customize content to fit company standards, assign targeted training based on KnowledgeSmart assessment results, upload internal documentation and training videos, control the look and feel of the Pinnacle Series interface, give assignments and monitor employee progress, create private groups and invite external users, and more.

Pinnacle Lite is a scaled-down version of our flagship AEC & M system for companies with up to 29 users. It offers access to the same AEC & M e-learning content (videos, courses, workflows, and learning paths), with a scaled-down interface and less effort required for implementation. Pinnacle Lite is a favorable option for small or mid-sized companies looking solely for high-quality training content and productivity tools rather than a full-featured learning management system.
